

HOW TO GET INSIDE HER HEAD

It doesn't matter if you're in a new relationship or if you've been in one for years; the feeling of knowing that she thinks about you is simply incredible, and it's hard to imagine anyone not enjoying that feeling. Make her think about you.

Sometimes it's because of your actions, sometimes because of someone else's actions, and sometimes it's something entirely out of your control.

But what if I told you that making her think about you isn't as difficult as you might think?

Are you excited to know that you can make a woman think and dream about you as you've always wanted? Do you want to be the man she constantly thinks about? It will be very simple after reading this because I'll tell you how women think and how to make a girl think about you non-stop.

But what if I told you that making her think about you isn't as difficult as you might think? Are you excited to know that you can make a woman think and dream about you as you've always wanted? Do you want to be the man she constantly thinks about? It will be very simple after reading this because I'll tell you how women think and how to make a girl think about you non-stop.

How to make a girl think about you? Now pay attention!

Of course, you don't want her to think about you once, and that's it. When she genuinely likes you, then you can get to know her well and invite her out without fear of being happy.

You must have a goal in mind: how you would like it to be.

If you don't have a goal, she'll just be wasting her thoughts on you, and it won't make sense to reach her.

If you want to go out with her, you'll have to make her think about you. Do you want to know how to do it?

Follow these steps to make a girl think about you, and I have no doubt she will have you stuck in her mind, thinking about you all the time without even realizing it.

Here are some good tips you should follow because they will ensure that the special lady in your life always misses you when you're not around.

These tips are a mix: some are for people in a relationship, while others are for those who are dating or just starting out. In any case, the tips are varied and are sure to be helpful.

1. Spend some time out of reach

This is advice for those who have been together for a while and for those who have just met someone. And if you want to know more about this topic, click here.

The thing is, absence makes the heart grow fonder. Besides, being emotionally dependent on your partner is not healthy for you.

Take some time to explore the things you like and do them with your friends, family, or even by yourself.

The scarcity technique works wonders because when you disappear, that potential feeling of loss is activated in the person's brain, and they immediately start thinking about you.

Of course, like everything in life, the dosage should be moderate; don't go away for a week and expect everything to be hotter when you come back, and she misses you terribly.

In that case, it would be a kind of abandonment and would weaken the relationship, so it's important to moderate it, creating that charm in disappearance that will undoubtedly work very well.

2. Don't overdo the communication

In today's times, with so many ways to communicate with loved ones, it's almost impossible not to be in touch with them 24 hours a day.

But the thing is, the sooner you limit the time you spend interacting with her, the better it will be for you.

Avoid long phone calls or text conversations, especially if it's something you do every day.

If you're constantly available to her, the chances of her missing you are nil.

Realize that if you always do this, she won't miss you or even want to call you anymore. The ideal is that she never gets used to your calls or messages because this can become routine, and then she won't think about you.

You may want to talk to her, I know, but you have to hold back to create that desire in her, the desire to think about you, and not just that, the desire to be with you.

Rest assured that the effort will be worth it.

3. Give her something that reminds her of you

This part will require a lot of care and attention to get it right. Women like gifts, but not judging, not expensive gifts as all men think.

Often, a sentimental gift will mean much more to her than an expensive handbag. And even more, try to choose something that will really remind her of you.

Of course, it won't be easy to choose, but it's up to you to be creative and make her think about you.

Some tips can help, like choosing something she can always carry in her bag, like a keychain or a necklace to wear around her neck.

A good tip is also a perfume, it doesn't have to be the most sophisticated, but if chosen carefully, she will smell it all day and immediately think of you.

4. Compliment in the right way

Don't see her as a piece of meat. Compliments that focus solely on her physical attributes are not only cheap but also tell her that you don't see her as anything more than an object you want to use and discard.

Of course, women like to feel desired, be sexy, and that's noticeable, but save it for hotter moments, while the goal is to make her think about you, focus only on what she excels at emotionally, her personality and way of being.

It's a guarantee of success. Compliment her for her outgoing personality or, if she's more serious, talk about how you admire her concentration when she wants something, a determined woman, and things like that will make her melt for you.

You have to go deep to make her think about you.

Compliment her smile, her eyes, her laughter, or how she tilts her head when she kisses you or how easy it is to make her blush.

Focus on the things she hasn't noticed about herself; that's where you'll get her immediate attention. And when you leave, she'll swoon over the compliments you gave her.

5. Do something personal for her

If you're too shy or clumsy to express your feelings in words, don't worry.

You can easily show her how you feel through your actions. Always be there for her, be her shoulder to lean on, and be trustworthy, loyal, and reliable (women love confidence).

You can also go the extra mile and do things for her that no one else would, like buying tickets to that music group she loves but never has enough money to go to the concert.

It's actions like these that will really leave a mark on her and make her think about you constantly.

6. Break your routines from time to time to make her think about you

Want to know how to make her think about you with this method? Let me illustrate this with an example.

Let's say you call her or send her a text every night before bed, telling her you love her or just wishing her good night.

Once in a while, just don't call her or send her a text. This will immediately make her think about you, wondering why you haven't called or sent a message.

The worst-case scenario is that you tell her a little lie, like you're too exhausted to remember it, where she'll keep thinking about you.

In the best-case scenario, she'll be the one calling or texting you to wish you "goodnight" because she's thinking about you. Either way, it's a situation that will help you achieve your goal of making her think about you.

Again, I emphasize that you have to be careful with "games"; never become too pushy, remember that these are just strategies to make her think about you, be careful not to stimulate feelings that can harm your relationship.

7. Don't soften too much

I know you really like her, and it's okay to show her how you feel. But if you want to know how to make a girl think about you, you'll want to keep your emotions a little less obvious and transparent at the beginning.

For some people, this can be very difficult, as some people need to express their feelings when they like someone, but sometimes this can come across as being desperate.

So instead of looking like you're madly in love, be a bit reserved with your feelings at first.

Remember, it's another way to make her think about you, because later you can express yourself however you want, but initially, it's good to make her remember you so she becomes more interested.

8. You remain her top priority

When we like someone, we tend to put all our effort into making them like us too.

This is the wrong way to go about it. Regardless of who the person you like is, make sure you don't make her a priority above yourself.

This will provide some boundaries, but it will also make her think about you because it gives the impression that you are a challenge.

9. Don't be predictable.

That's the most important thing of all. You want to show balance so she knows she still has to attract you and still has to do some work to get you.

Example: If you text her "Good morning" or "Goodnight" all the time, let her do it too.

Don't be the only one doing it, as she needs to feel that she has to make an effort to win you over as well.

Also, don't respond to her messages right away so she gets excited to see you on her phone. Let the anticipation build up before she sees you again.

10. Be mysterious

Don't post every second of your life on social media, what you're eating, or what you're thinking.

Post less if you're active on social media. Besides, mysterious means disappearing.

You don't want to disappear for too long, but long enough for her to wonder what you're doing.

If she sends you a message in the morning, say something like this that same night:

"I've had a very busy day! I hope your day has been great too. I'm going to bed as I have a long day ahead. I'll talk to you soon, and goodnight."

Then, send her a text in the morning, so she sees that you're present but that you still have your own life.

This shows that she's not your top priority, and ultimately, women love that.

This shows her that you have a sense of stability in your life and that you're content with how you live it.

11. Be different from the others

Last but not least.

To make her really think about you, you have to be more than just another guy in her life. Keep in mind that there's no shortage of contacts for women, and the supply for them is large.

Don't be discouraged. That's exactly why you need to show your full potential, be a nice guy who respects her, teases her, and seduces her. That way, you won't make any mistakes, and she'll surely remember you often.